

E-Mail at LS in OS9

You'll know you're using OS9 if the apple in the upper-left corner of your screen is rainbow colored and your menu looks like this:

Click on the apple to see the Apple Menu. Near the top will be a "Q" icon and the word "Quantum". Click it.

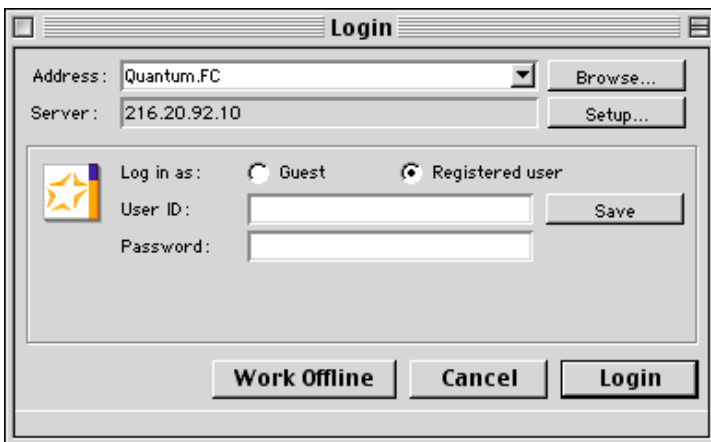

-- If you don't see this, look for "FirstClass". This is another name for the same thing. Some computers may also have a different icon (picture) next to the word.

Logging In

After clicking Quantum, this dialog box will come up.

Enter your User ID and password.

- Your User ID is probably your last name, followed by your first initial, like ErricoN.
- You've been given a password, but you should change it immediately to something you will remember and no one else will know.
